Index

A

ABSplus material, 159–160
Accuracy improvements
  error sources, 406–407
  machining strategy, 408–412
  model pre-processing, 407–408
ACES scan pattern, 87–91
Acoustic softening. See Blaha effect
Acrylate photopolymer systems, 98
Adaptive raster milling, 408–410
Additive manufacturing (AM)
  advantages, 8–9
  basic principle, 1–2
  classification
    discrete particle systems, 30
    hybrid systems, 33–34
    layered manufacturing (LM) processes, 28
    liquid polymer systems, 29
    metal systems, 32
    molten material systems, 30–31
    new schemes, 31–32
    solid sheet systems, 31
  vs. CNC machining
    accuracy, 11
    complexity, 10
    geometry, 11
    materials, 9–10
    programming, 11–12
    speed, 10
  future aspects, 37
  historical development, 34–35
  hollowing out parts, 54 identification markings/numbers, 56 interlocking features, 55 layers usage, 26–27
  materials handling issues, 52–53 motivation, 283–284
  part count reduction, 56 part orientation, 53
  processes
    application, 5–6, 47
    CAD, 4, 42–44
    conversion to STL, 4, 44–45 machine setup, 5, 45
    part building, 5, 46
    parts removal, 5, 46
    post-processing, 5, 46–47
    software, 58
    transfer to AM machine and STL file manipulation, 5, 45 removal of supports, 53–54, 404
  technology
    computer aided design (CAD), 20–23 computer aided engineering (CAE), 13–14 computer numerically controlled (CNC) machining, 25–26 computers, 17–20
    haptic-based CAD, 14–15
    lasers, 23–24
    materials, 25
    molten material systems, 49–50
    photopolymer-based systems, 48 powder-based systems, 48–49
    printing technologies, 24

programmable logic controllers (PLCs), 24–25 reverse engineering (RE) technology, 12–13 solid sheets, 50
undercuts inclusion, 54–55 unique capabilities functional complexity, 292–294 hierarchical complexity, 291–292 hierarchical structures, 297–299 industrial design applications, 299–300 material complexity, 295–296 part consolidation and redesign, 296–297 shape complexity, 290–291 world-wide companies, 35–36
Advanced Information and Communication Technologies (aICT), 439–445 Aerospace industry, 369
Aesthetic improvements, 412–413
Align Technology, 363–365
Applied energy correlations and scan patterns, 135–138
Assassin model soccer shoe, 367–368
Automated fabrication (Autofab), 6
Automated powder removal machine, 402–403
Automotive industry, 369, 432

B

Banerjee, R., 257
Basaran, O.A., 187, 188
Beam deposition (BD) processes benefits and drawbacks, 256–258
differential motion, 239
laser-based metal deposition (LBMD) process, 239–240 materials and microstructure brittle intermetallic phase, 251 ceramic materials, 248–249 CoCrMo LENS deposit, 250, 251 ductility, 252
metallic materials, 248 microstructural advantages, 250 multi-material combination, 249, 250 optical methods, 250
powder feedstock, 249
TiC LENS deposit, 251
microstructure, 238–239 multi-axis deposition head motion, 240 parameters, 247
powder feeding
co-axial feeding, 242–243 dynamic thickness benefits, 242 energy density, 241–242
extrusion-based process, 241 4-nozzle feeding, 243 single nozzle feeding, 243 versatile feedstock, 240 z-offset, 241
processing-structure-properties relationships cooling rate, 253
3D Rosenthal solution, 252–253 low-and high-powered systems, 255, 256 normalized melting temperature, 254 solidification microstructure, 252 solidification velocity, 256 thermal gradient, 254 representation, 237, 238
systems
AeroMet machine, 246
CO_2 laser system, 245
Controlled Metal Buildup (CMB), 247
Direct Metal Deposition (DMD), 245
Electron Beam Freeform Fabrication (EBF^3), 247 laser consolidation process, 246–247
Laser Engineered Net Shaping (LENS) system, 244–245 POM machines, 245
welding/plasma-based technologies, 247–248 wire feeding, 243–244
Bernard, A., 319
Beuth, J., 252
Binary deflection continuous system, 184–185
Binder printing, 201
Biocompatible materials, 138
Bioextrusion
gel formation, 162
melt extrusion, 162–164
scaffold architectures, 164
Blaha effect, 219

Blaha, F., 219
Blazdell, P.F., 185
Blended multiple materials processes, 429–431
Bluestone material, 433
Bonding, 151–152
Bontha, S., 252, 256
Boothroyd, G., 285
Breakaway supports, 404
Build time model, 376–379
Burns, M., 6
Business opportunities and future directions digiproneurship
    advantages, 445
    creation facilities, 444–445
    definition, 437–438
    distributed conceptualization and propagation, 442–443
    Freedom of Creation, 443
    Google SketchUp, 443
    representation, 442
    research and development priorities, 444
    Spore game and Spore Creature Creator, 443
  new types employment, 440–442
    products, 439–440

C
Cationic photopolymerization, 67
Ceramic parts creation approaches, 119–120
Ceramics, 178–179
Certification, 372
Chemically-induced sintering, 108
Childs, T.H.C., 136
Computer aided design (CAD) technology
  accuracy, 22
  binary/ASCII format, 342–343
  cantilever beam, 312–313 challenges, 301–302
  complexity, 22
  direct slicing, 357
  3D Systems, 341
  engineering content, 22
  file creation, 343–344
  image, layer thickness, 2 limitations, NC machining, 20–21 model, 23
  non-applicative areas
    architectural models, 58 medical modeling, 57–58 reverse engineering data, 58 promising technologies implicit modeling, 305–309 proposed DFAM system, 304–305 realism, 21
  search and synthesis methods design structures, 308
    Gauss–Newton methods, 311 genetic algorithm (GA), 310 geometric complexity, 308
    Levenburg–Marquardt (LM) algorithm, 310, 311
    Michell truss layout, 310 one-piece structure, 309 swarm, cognitive behavior, 311 wagon wheel structure, 310
  slice profile calculation cutting plane, 345
    discrete scenarios, 346 triangle and line intersection, 346–348 vectors, 2D profile, 348, 349 Z value, 346
  solid-modeling CAD systems cooling channels, 302 geometry-related capabilities, 303 hybrid CSG-BRep, 302
    ISO STEP standard, 303 issues, 303, 304
  speed, 22
  STL file format, 22–23
  systems, 3
  technology specific elements hatching pattern, 351, 352 patterned vector scanning, 350, 351 raster scanning, 350 support structure, 349–350 usability and user interface, 22
Computer aided engineering (CAE), 13–14
Computer-Aided Manufacturing of Laminated Engineering Materials (CAM-LEM), 211–212 Computerized tomography (CT) scanner, 386

Computer numerical controlled (CNC) machining, 25–26, 214, 215
Concept Laser GmbH, Germany, 125 Conceptualization, 440, 442–445 and CAD, 42–44
definition, 437–438
Continuous mode (CM) deposition, 184–185
Contour crafting, 165
Cost estimation
build time model, 376–379
cost model, 374–376
stereolithography example, 379–380
Cost model, 374–376
Covas, J.A., 146
Cure model, 95–96

D

Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA), 259–260
De Gans, B.J., 187, 192–194
Deglin, A., 319
Deposition, printing process
ceramics, 178–179
metals, 179–181
polymers, 176–178
Derby, B., 193
Design for additive manufacturing (DFAM) aircraft duct, 286, 287 assembly and manufacturing costs, 286 camera spool, 286
complex and customized geometry, 288 conventional DFM constraint elimination, 289 definition and classification, 284 injection molding tools, 285, 286 integrated assemblies, 288–289 integrated flow vanes, 287 objectives and guidelines, 287 product development process, 284–285 software tools, 285
Design tools, 434
Dewhurst, P., 285
Digiproneurship
advantages, 445
creation facilities, 444–445
definition, 437–438
distributed conceptualization and propagation, 442–443
Freedom of Creation, 443
Google SketchUp, 443
representation, 442
research and development priorities, 444
Spore game and Spore Creature Creator, 443
Digital entrepreneurship, 438
Digital record, 372
Direct digital manufacturing (DDM)
adding/editing screen, 334, 335
Align Technology, 363–365
AM vendors and applications researchers, 435
applications, 370–372
build times and costs, 329, 334
cost estimation
build time model, 376–379
cost model, 374–376
stereolithography example, 379–380
custom soccer shoes and other examples, 367–370 database maintenance, 334
drivers, 370–372
flowchart, 330
future aspects, 382–383
layout of parts, 333
life-cycle costing, 380–382
manufacturing vs. prototyping, 372–374 negative spacing values, 333
part data entry screen, 330, 331
preliminary selection, 330, 332
qualitative assessment question screen, 330, 331
qualitative assessment results, 330, 332
Siemens and Phonak, 365–367
SinterStation Pro 140, 334
Direct printing, 182–183
Direct write (DW) technologies
applications
fractal and MAPLE-DW printed antenna, 279 materials and substrates combination, 278 remote sensing, 280
sensor fabricator, 279
thermal and strain sensors, 280

beam deposition
electron beam CVD, 275
FIB CVD, 274–275
laser chemical vapor deposition (LCVD), 272–274 beam tracing approach additive/subtractive DW, 276 electron beam tracing, 277 focused ion beam tracing, 277 laser beam tracing, 277–278 micro-/nanodiameter beams, 277 categories, 260
Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA), 259–260
definition, 259
hybrid technologies, 278 ink-based DW aerosol, 266–267
continuous and droplet dispensing, 261 inkjet printing process, 265–266 ink types, 260
material properties, 261 nozzle dispensing process, 261–264 quill-type process, 264–265 rheological properties, 260, 261 laser transfer ablation, 268, 269
benefits and drawbacks, 270
high-energy laser beam, 267 MAPLE DW process, 269
sacrificial transfer material, 268, 269 spallation, 269
thermal expansion, 268
liquid-phase direct deposition, 275–276 thermal spray techniques aperture system, 271–272 characteristics, 270
general apparatus, 270, 271 multilayer devices, 272 splats, 270
Discrete multiple materials processes, 424–427
Discrete particle systems, 30
Distributed conceptualization and propagation, 438, 442, 444
3D-Micromac AG, Germany, 125–126
3D printing (3DP). See Printing processes Drill guides, 392
Droplet formation methods, 183–184, 187–188
Droplets deposition control, 182
Drop-on-demand (DOD) mode deposition, 186–187
3D Systems
ACES scan pattern, 87
computer-aided design system, 22 3D printing, 172
EOS, 35
hot melt deposition, 193
laser-based systems, 120–124
MakeTray, 365
ProJet printers, 173
selective laser sintering (SLS), 30, 120
SinterStation Pro, 382
SLA Viper Si2 machine, 367
SLA-250, 63
stereolithography (SL), 7, 29, 34, 61, 71–74, 94, 341, 357, 379, 432
Thermojet, 31
UV-curable printing materials, 194
V-Flash machine, 95
WINDOWPANE procedure, 81
DuPont, J.N., 251

E

Edirisinghe, M.J., 194
Elastomeric thermoplastic polymers, 138
Electrochemical liquid deposition (ECLD), 275–276
Electron beam melting (EBM) Arcam's EBM system, 368
metal systems, 54
vs. SLM, 126–130
Electronic spare parts, 372
Embedded component AM, 431–432
Engineering training, 397
Entrepreneurship, 438, 442
Envisiontec Bioplotter, 393
EOS GmbH (Germany), 123–124
EOSint laser sintering, 122–123
Equipment maintenance, 51–52
Exposure, 77–78
Extrusion-based systems basic principles
bonding, 151–152

extrusion, 146–149
liquification, 145–146
positional control, 150–151
solidification, 149–150
support generation, 152–153
bioextrusion
gel formation, 162
melt extrusion, 162–164
scaffold architectures, 164
fused deposition modeling (FDM), Stratasys ABSplus material, 159–160
limitations, 160–161
machine types, 157–159
other systems
contour crafting, 165
FDM of ceramics, 166–167
nonplanar systems, 165–166
Reprap and Fab@home, 167–168 plotting and path control, 153–156

F

Fab@home, 167–168
Factory 2.0, 442, 444, 445
fcubic processes, 132–133
Feng, W., 177
Figure-Prints company, 370
Figureprints model, 58
Focused ion beam chemical vapor deposition (FIB CVD), 274–275 Form, Fit and Function (3 Fs), 3
Freedom of Creation, 443
Freeform fabrication (FFF), 7. See also Additive manufacturing Free-radical photopolymerization, 65
F&S Stereolithographietechninik GmbH, Germany, 124
Fukumoto, H., 188
Full melting, 117
Fused deposition modeling (FDM) machines
DDM example, 369
limitations, 160–161
types, 157–159
Stratasys
ABSplus material, 159–160
of ceramics, 166–167
limitations, 160–161
machine types, 157–159

G

Gaming industry, 370
Gao, F., 76, 87
Gel formation, 162
Genetic algorithms (GAs), 310
Gibson, I., 428
Gluing/adhesive bonding
adhesive-backed paper, 207
bond-then-form process
decubing, 208
LOM advantages and limitations, 209–210 support material strategy, 209 tiles/cubes, 208
classification, 207
form-then-bond process
advantages, 211
CAM-LEM process, 211–212 ceramic microfluidic distillation device, 212 Offset Fabbing system, 210–211
Stratoconception approach, 212
Google SketchUp, 443
Grossman, B., 14

H

Haptic-based CAD, 14–15
Hearing aids, 365–367
He, Z., 276
High speed sintering (HSS), 132
Himmer, T., 213
Hirowatari, K., 91
Hole drilling, 412
Hot melt deposition, 193
Hull, C.W., 61
Hybrid systems, 33

I

Ikuta, K., 91
Inkjet printing, 171
Insurance, 397
Interpenetrating polymer network formation, 69–70

Investment casting patterns, 414
InVision LD 3D-Modeler, 209
Irradiance model, 76–77, 95–96

J
Jacobs, P.F., 63
Janaki Ram, G.D., 32, 218, 225, 227–229, 432
Jujups company, 370

K
Keeney, R.L., 321
Khoshnevis, B., 428
Khuri-Yakub, B.T., 187
Klingbeil, N., 252
Kolosov's constant, 230
Kruth, J.P., 109

L
Labor cost, 376
Laminated object manufacturing (LOM), 31, 34, 207, 208, 402, 423
  advantages, 209–210
  limitations, 210
Laser-based systems
  low-temperature processing, 120–123
  metals and ceramics, 123–126
Laser chemical vapor deposition (LCVD) advantages and disadvantages, 274 Georgia Tech's development, 273–274 vs. microthermal spray, 274 multimaterial and gradient structures, 272 resolution, 273
LaserForm ST-100 green parts, 418
Laser-resin interaction, 78–81
Laser sintering. See PBF laser-based systems Lasers technology, 23–24
Layer-based build phenomena and errors, 83
Layer-based manufacturing, 7
Layered manufacturing (LM) processes, 28
Lee, E., 188
Le, H.P., 171
Levenburg–Marquardt (LM) algorithm, 310, 311
Life-cycle costing, 380–382
Line-wise and layer-wise processing mask projection photopolymerization processes commercial MPSL systems, 94–95
    MPSL modeling, 95–96
    SL technology, 92–93
  PBF-based line-wise and layer-wise processes fcubic, 132–133
    high speed sintering (HSS), 132
    selective inhibition sintering (SIS) process, 132–133
    selective mask sintering (SMS) technology, 130–132
    sintering aid, 132
Lipson, H., 426
Liquid-phase sintering (LPS) and partial melting distinct binder and structural materials coated particles, 111–112 composite particles, 110–111 separate particles, 110 indistinct binder and structural materials, 112
Liquid polymer systems, 29
Liquification, 145–146
Liu, Q., 179, 186
Liu, W., 251
Luce, R.D., 322

M
Machine purchase and operations costs, 375
Machining strategy
  adaptive raster milling, 408–410
  hole drilling, 412
  sharp edge contour machining, 410–411
MakeTray software, 365
Mask projection stereolithography (MPSL)
  commercial systems, 94–95
  modeling, 95–96
  technology, 92–93
Material cost, 375
Materials development, 435
Materials technology, 25
Mavroidis, C., 293
Meacham, J.M., 188

Medical applications
  categories
    manufacturing, 390
    prosthetics development, 389–390
    surgical and diagnostic aids, 387–388
    tissue engineering and organ printing, 390–391 computerized tomography (CT) scanner, 386 further development
    approvals, 396–397
    engineering training, 397
    insurance, 397
    location of technology, 398 service bureaus, 398
  limitations
    accuracy, 395
    cost, 394–395
    speed, 394
  materials, 395–396
  software tools, 392–393
Melt extrusion, 162–164
Melt flow index (MFI), 117
Metal deposition technology. See beam deposition (BD) processes Metal parts creation approaches
  full melting, 117
  indirect processing, 119
  liquid-phase sintering, 117–119
  pattern methods, 119
Metal systems, 32
  accuracy, 51
  beam deposition process controlled metal buildup (CMB), 247 intermetallic formation, 242 laser-based metal deposition (LBMD), 239
  energy density, 50–51
  Laser-Engineered Net Shaping (LENS), 32 powder bed fusion process, 113, 117–119
    laser-based systems, 123
    ProMetal process, 133 proprietary metal powder, 139 structural metal powder, 112 sheet metal clamping, 214
  substrates usage, 51
  weight and speed, 51
Michell, A.G.M., 309, 310
Microstereolithography. See Vector scan microstereolithography Modeling, printing process, 188–192
Molten material systems, 30–31
Monomer formulations, 69
Morgenstern, O., 322
Multi-axis systems, 434
Multiple material approaches blended type, 429–431 commercial applications, 432–433 discrete type, 424–427 embedded component, 431–432 future directions
    analysis, 434
    applications, 435
    design tools, 434
    materials development, 435
    multi-axis systems, 434
  porous type, 427–429
  purposes, 424

N

Nakajima, N., 91
Natural support post-processing, 402–403
Nonplanar systems, 165–166
Non-thermal post-processing techniques, 416–417 Nozzle dispensing direct write processes differentiating factors, 262 drawback, 263
  materials, 264
  Micropen company, 262
  nScrypt system, 262, 263 pump/syringe mechanism, 261 scaffold deposition, 262

O

Obikawa, T., 213
Orme, M., 179, 180, 185, 186, 193
Orthodontic treatment devices, 363–365

P

Paper Lamination Technology (PLT), 209
Partial melting, 110–112
Particle swarm optimization (PSO) algorithm, 310, 312, 313

Pattern replication methods, 415–416
PBF laser-based systems, 120–123
Percin, G., 187
Perfactory machine, 94–95
Pham, D.T., 28
Phenix Systems, 125
Phonak Hearing Systems, 365–367
Photoinitiator system, 68
Photopolymerization processes approaches, 62
  mask projection stereolithography (MPSL)
    commercial systems, 94–95
    modeling, 95–96
    technology, 92–93
  materials
    photopolymer chemistry, 65–67
    resin formulations and reaction mechanisms, 67–70
    UV curable photopolymers, 63–65
  reaction rates, 70–71
  SL resin curing process irradiance and exposure, 76–78
    laser-resin interaction, 78–81
    photospeed, 81–82
    time scales, 82
  SL scan patterns
    ACES, 87–91
    layer-based build phenomena and errors, 83
    STAR-WEAVE, 85–87
    WEAVE, 83–84
  two-photon SL (2p-SL), 96–98
  vector scan microstereolithography, 91–92
  vector scan stereolithography
    machines, 72–75
    process overview, 71–72
Photospeed, 81–82
Plotting and path control, 153–156
Poisson's ration, 230
Polymers, 176–178
Polystyrene-based materials, 138
Porous multiple materials processes, 427–429
Positional control, 150–151
Post-processing
  accuracy improvements
    error sources, 406–407
    machining strategy, 408–412
    model pre-processing, 407–408
  aesthetic improvements, 412–413 pattern for metal part creation investment casting, 414 other replication methods, 415–416 sand casting, 414–415
  property enhancements non-thermal techniques, 416–417 thermal techniques, 417–420 support material removal
    naturally-occurring by-product, 402–403
    synthetic supports, 403–405
  surface texture improvements, 405–406 Powder bed fusion (PBF) processes applied energy correlations and scan patterns, 135–138 capabilities and limitations, 140
  ceramic parts creation approaches, 119–120
  electron beam melting (EBM) vs. SLM, 126–130 fusion mechanisms
    chemically-induced sintering, 108
    full melting, 112–113
    liquid-phase sintering (LPS) and partial melting, 108–112
    solid-state sintering, 105–108
  laser-based systems
    low-temperature processing, 120–123
    metals and ceramics, 123–126 line-wise and layer-wise type fcubic, 132–133
    high speed sintering (HSS), 132
    selective inhibition sintering (SIS) process, 132–133
    selective mask sintering (SMS) technology, 130–132
    sintering aid, 132
  materials, 138–140
  metal parts creation approaches
    full melting, 117
    indirect processing, 119
    liquid-phase sintering, 117–119
    pattern methods, 119

powder handling
challenges, 113–115
recycling, 116–117
systems, 115–116
process parameters, 133–135
selective laser sintering (SLS), 103–105
Powder delivery system, 114–115
Powder feeding systems, 115–116 Powder fusion mechanisms chemically-induced sintering, 108
full melting, 112–113
liquid-phase sintering (LPS) and partial melting, 108–112
solid-state sintering, 105–108
Powder handling
challenges, 113–115
recycling, 116–117
systems, 115–116
Preliminary selection decision support problem (PS-DSP), 320–321
Prepolymer deposition, 194–195
Priest, J.W., 179
Printing indicator, 191 Printing processes
deposition, research achievements
ceramics, 178–179
metals, 179–181
polymers, 176–178
evolution
advantages, 174
commercial machines, 172–175
historical development, 172
inkjet printing, 171
inkjet printing, 171
material modification methods
hot melt deposition, 193
prepolymer deposition, 194–195
solution-and dispersion-based deposition, 193–194
modeling, 188–192
printing technologies, 24
technical challenges continuous mode (CM), 184–185
direct printing, 182–183
droplets formation and deposition control, 182 drop-on-demand (DOD) mode, 186–187 operational considerations, 183 other droplet formation methods, 187–188
resolution, 183
three-dimensional fabrication, 182 three-dimensional printing (3DP)
binder printing, 201
commercial machines, 196–199
other materials, 199–200
technology, 195–196
Prior 2 Lever (P2L) company, 367 Process selection guidelines approaches to determining feasibility feasible material/machines, 320 knowledge-based system, 319 PS-DSP, 320–321
reasoning methods, 319 web-based AM selection system, 320 approaches to selection attribute rating, 322
identify step, 321–322
probability density function, 323 Rate step, 322
standard selection decision support problem (s-DSP), 321, 322 utility curve, 323
word formulation, 321
capital investment decision alternatives evaluation, attributes, 326, 327 caster wheel model, 324, 325 customization process, 324 merit values and rankings, 326, 328 ratio and interval scale, 325 relative importances, 326 weighting scenarios, 325–326
challenges
conventions and exhibitions, 328 costs vs. benefits, 326 expert systems, 329
SL and FDM machines, 328–329
SLS machine, 328
ZCorp machine, 329
DDMS
adding/editing screen, 334, 335
build times and costs, 329, 334
database maintenance, 334
flowchart, 330

layout of parts, 333
negative spacing values, 333
part data entry screen, 330, 331
preliminary selection, 330, 332
qualitative assessment question screen, 330, 331
qualitative assessment results, 330, 332
SinterStation Pro 140, 334 decision theory, 318–319 open problems, 338–339 process planning support, 318 quotation support, 318
rapid prototyping, 317 service bureaus (SBs) decision support software system, 335
part building, 337
post-processing, 337–338
preprocessing, 336–337
production planning, 336
Programmable logic controllers (PLCs) technology, 24–25
ProMetal injection molding tool, 419
Propagation, 437–438, 440, 442–445
Prosthetics development, 389–390

Q

Qu, X., 410

R

Raiffa, H., 321, 322
Rapid prototyping (RP), 1, 8
vs. direct digital manufacturing, 372–373
hearing aids, 37
Reaction rates, 70–71
Recycling of powder, 116–117
Reis, N., 176, 187, 193
Reprap, 167–168
Resin formulations and reaction mechanisms
interpenetrating polymer network formation, 69–70
monomer formulations, 69
photoinitiator system, 68
Retirement costs, 381
Reverse engineering (RE) technology, 12–13
RTV molding, 416

S

SAAB Avitronics, 369
Sand casting patterns, 414–415
Savage, L.J., 322
Scaffold architectures, 164
Scan/deposition time, 376
Selective area laser deposition vapor infiltration (SALDVI), 274
Selective inhibition sintering (SIS) process, 132–133
Selective laser sintering (SLS), 103–105
Selective mask sintering (SMS) technology, 130–132
Service and tooling costs, 381
Shapiro, V., 306
Sharp edge contour machining, 410–411
Sheet lamination processes
gluing/adhesive bonding
adhesive-backed paper, 207
bond-then-form process, 208–210
classification, 207
form-then-bond process, 210–212
laminated object manufacturing (LOM), 207, 208
sheet metal clamping, 214
thermal bonding, 212–213
ultrasonic consolidation (UC) additive-subtractive process, 215
automated support material approach, 216
bond quality, 216, 218
CNC milling, 214, 215
defects, 222–224
definition, 214
fiber embedment, 233
fundamentals, 216–219
honeycomb structure, 216, 217 internal features, 231–232
material flexibility, 232
mechanical properties, 225–226
microstructures, 224–225
modeling, 226–231
parameters and optimization, 220–222
smart structures, 233–234
sonotrode, 215
Shimoda, T., 187, 193, 194
Shrinkage, 407
Siemens Hearing Instruments, Inc., 365–367

SinterStation Pro systems, 121–122, 334
Sirringhaus, H., 187
Skin addition, 407
SLA-7000 vat, 377
SLA Viper Pro parameters, 379
SLA Viper Si2 machine, 333, 334
SLM dental framework, 404–405
Soccer shoes, 367–370
Software tools, medical applications, 392–393
Solid freeform fabrication (SFF), 7. See also Additive manufacturing Solidification, 149–150
Solidimension, 209
Solid sheet systems, 31
Solid Slicing Manufacturing (SSM), 208–209
Solid-state sintering, 105–108
Solution-and dispersion-based deposition, 193–194
Sonin, A.A., 76, 87
Spore game and Spore Creature Creator, 443
Standardization, 374
STAR-WEAVE, 85–87
Stereolithography (SL), 7, 379–380
  binder printing, 201
  commercial machines, 196–199
  other materials, 199–200
  resin curing process irradiance and exposure, 76–78
    laser-resin interaction, 78–81
    photospeed, 81–82
    time scales, 82
  scan patterns
    ACES, 87–91
    layer-based build phenomena and errors, 83
    STAR-WEAVE, 85–87
    WEAVE, 83–84
  technology, 195–196
Stereolithography (STL) file format additional software, 359–360
  CAD model preparation
    3D Systems, 341
    binary/ASCII format, 342–343
    file creation, 343–344
    slice profile calculation, 345–349
    technology specific elements, 349–351
  color models, 357–358
  degenerated facets, 353–354 direct slicing, CAD model, 357 leaks, 353
  machining use, 358–359
  manipulation
    cut cylinder, 354, 355
    on AM machine, 356–357
    triangle-based definition, 354 viewers, 355–356
  multiple materials, 358 unit changing, 351–352
  vertex to vertex rule, 352
Stevens, M.J., 146
Stratasys, 30, 34, 35, 58, 144, 157–161, 165, 369
Stucker, B.E., 32, 410
Support generation, 152–153
Support material removal
  naturally-occurring by-product, 402–403
  synthetic supports, 403–405
Surface texture improvements, 405–406
Surgical and diagnostic aids, 387–388
Sweet, R., 188
Synthetic support removal build materials, 404–405 secondary materials, 405

T

Takagi, T., 91
Tape casting methods, 209
Tay, B., 194
Thermal post-processing techniques, 417–420
Thermochemical liquid deposition (TCLD), 275
Tissue engineering and organ printing, 390–391
Tseng, A.A., 185
Two-photon stereolithography (2p-SL), 96–98

U

Ultrasonic consolidation (UC)
  additive-subtractive process, 215
  automated support material approach, 216
  bond quality, 216, 218

CNC milling, 214, 215
defects, 222–224
definition, 214
fiber embedment, 233
fundamentals
plastic deformation, 219 SEM microstructures, Al 3003/SS mesh, 218 solid-state bonding, 219 thermal welding process, 217 ultrasonic metal welding (UMW), 216, 217
internal features, 231–232
material flexibility, 232
mechanical properties, 225–226
microstructures, 224–225
modeling
dwelling duration, 230–231 equation of motion, 229, 230 free body diagram, 229
interfacial plastic deformation, 226 linear welding density (LWD), 231 metal foil deposition, 227, 228 SEM microstructures, Al 3003/SiC, 226, 227 single cycle energy, 231 threshold ultrasonic energy, 227 total energy, 231
parameters and optimization normal force, 220–221
oscillation amplitude, 220 preheat temperature, 221–222 sonotrode travel speed, 221 smart structures, 233–234
sonotrode, 215
UV curable photopolymers, 63–65

V

Varadan, V.K., 93
Vector scan microstereolithography, 91–92
Vector scan stereolithography
machines, 72–75
process overview, 71–72
Vertical integration, 373
V-Flash machine, 95
VisCAM viewer, 355
von Neumann, J., 322

W

Wang, J., 389
WEAVE, 83–84
Web 2.0, 438, 439, 444, 445
Wimpenny, D.I., 213
Windform material, 433
Wohlers, T.T., 7, 317, 395
Working curve, 80–82

Y

Yamaguchi, K., 181, 187
Yamasaki, H., 213
Yardimci, M.A., 151
Yi, S., 213
Young's modulus, 230

Z

ZCorp.,
binder printing machines, 402–403
color models, 357, 358
digiproneurship, 443
vs. Dimension FDM machine, 329 discrete particle system, 30 3D printing (3DP) process, 172, 185, 370, 388, 427 high resolution 24-bit color printing machine, 174 LCVD, 274
low-cost technology, 35 powder-based system, 49 starch, 414
ZPrinter 310 Plus, ZPrinter 450, and Spectrum Z510, 198
Zhao, X., 194
Zippy RP Systems, 209